Crawford & Company hosts market event on Thailand floods

London – Crawford Global Technical Services (GTS<sup>sm</sup>) recently hosted a market event to update key insurance audiences on the situation following the devastating floods that hit Thailand during 2011.

Speaking to an audience of underwriters, brokers and insurers from the Lloyd's and London market were Ian Baxter, Regional Director, Global Technical Services Asia-Pacific, and John Pyall, International Claims Coordinator, Munich Re. The speakers gave an overview of the major issues around coverage and settlement from both the loss adjuster and reinsurer perspectives.

Crawford & Company has had a substantial presence in the region to support its existing teams in Bangkok and this event gave the audience an opportunity to meet some of the Crawford team members who are currently working on the major losses arising from the incident.

Mike Reeves, Executive Vice President of Crawford's Global Markets group, said, "Regular updates with the major insurance markets have become an essential part of our communication on significant incidents such as Thailand. This is all the more so as we enter into the stage where the claims are coming to settlement and complex policy issues require addressing."
