John Hazelden joins Crawford & Company in Singapore
Appointment strengthens construction expertise in Southeast Asia

London – Crawford & Company is pleased to announce that John Hazelden has been appointed as head of Construction and executive director of Crawford & Company International Pte Ltd, Singapore.

John will lead Crawford Singapore's Construction team and will work with Chris Panes, executive director for Asia, in developing the Company's infrastructure offering in Singapore and the wider Southeast Asia region.

Richard Martin, chairman, Crawford Asia Pacific stated "We are delighted that John has rejoined Crawford and that we will, once again, benefit from his wealth of experience in the handling of major and complex construction claims throughout Asia. He is a valuable addition to our team."

A qualified quantity surveyor, John was previously employed by Crawford from 1994 to 2006 as executive director. He has spent more than 30 years in the construction loss adjusting industry dealing with major losses under a variety of projects, including: tunnels and mass rapid transit projects; power plants; chemical / petrochemical plants and bridges, as well as condominium projects; office developments and land reclamation schemes. He has lived and worked in Singapore for the last 22 years and is very familiar with the handling of significant construction claims both in Singapore and throughout Southeast Asia.
